May 1st, 2020 - Christina Rossetti's 1830-1894 poetry has inspired visual artists since it first began to be published in the 1840s. Artists who made designs to accompany her poetry in illustrated books include her brother Dante Gabriel Rossetti, Frederick Sandys, Arthur Hughes, Laurence Housman, and later Florence Harrison, Lucien Pissarro, and Charles Ricketts.

June 5th, 2020 - Things were looking decidedly shaky for a while in the world of illustration. Photography took over from the drawn, painted, or rendered image in advertising and editorial, leaving desperate illustrators fighting for scraps as reported in these pages. However, illustration has recently undergone something of a resurgence so much so that it's time to ask if what's happening today could...
