June 6th, 2020 - Universal design for learning (UDL) is a teaching approach that works to accommodate the needs and abilities of all learners and eliminates unnecessary hurdles in the learning process. This means developing a flexible learning environment in which information is presented in multiple ways, students engage in learning in a variety of ways, and students are provided options when demonstrating their learning.

Universal design for learning (UDL) transforms the classroom learning environment to support all learners by breaking down potential barriers and enriching the experience for all students rather than only providing enhancements to students with disabilities. Those enhancements and many more are embedded into the class structure.
